

WINTER WATER-SAVING TIPS

With January and February comes some of the coldest temperatures in the area. Here are a few tips to help prepare your home and save money on your water bill this winter:

Adjust Your Watering Schedule

Depending on the weather, little or no supplemental watering is needed during the winter months. Remember to adjust your irrigation controller accordingly.

Check for Leaks

During the winter months, changes in the temperature between night and day can cause pipes to expand and contract, making it easier for leaks to occur.

Winterize Your Pipes

Insulate pipes or faucets in unheated areas, such as the garage, crawl space and attic.
